CHORAL EVENSONG

JUNE 6 AT 4:00PM

The Third Church Chancel Choir will join with members of the Incarnate Word Choir to present a Service of Choral Evensong in the Incarnate Word sanctuary as the final offering in this year's season of ThirdArts programs. This reflective liturgy is patterned after the services sung daily in English cathedrals and collegiate churches for centuries. It is full of music, scripture and prayer, including pieces by Richard Shephard, David Hogan, Ralph Vaughan Williams and others.

The service is open to the public. Please plan to attend, and invite friends and neighbors to join you! A reception will follow.

Dear Friends,

June is a time of transition. Here are two to consider.

Summer worship. Our wonderful friends at Incarnate Word maintain their worship schedule throughout the year, Sundays at 9:30 a.m. We typically change ours over the summer. That practice would not work this summer. So we brainstormed and brainstormed, and devised what we think is a clever, creative, collegial solution. The schedule is printed on the front page of this Messenger, but is worth repeating. All this will happen from June 27 to September 5.

- 8:30 a.m. in the Third Church Chapel. Our ministers will be preaching. The service will be a bit briefer than what we typically experience, but will include sermon, prayers, hymns and other music, plus communion on the first Sundays of July, August and September.
- 9:30 a.m. in the Incarnate Word Sanctuary. We will alternate preachers, Lutheran and Presbyterian. We will celebrate what we call Communion and what they call Eucharist each Sunday, with a grape juice option for us Presbyterians! The liturgy will be a kind of "hybrid" with elements from both traditions, so it should feel familiar to us. I am extremely grateful to co-pastors Doug and Joanne Stewart for their faithfulness and flexibility in helping us to come to this good solution. It will be a good opportunity to give visible witness to the unity we share.
- 10:45 a.m. Book Series. We will continue the summer book review series, again with alternating leadership. I will begin the series on June 27 by reviewing Phyllis Tickle's popular book The Great Emergence: How Christianity Is Changing and Why.

It promises to be a great summer – see you in church.

Leadership. The second transition has to do with our elected leadership. New officers begin their terms this month. Please keep them in your prayers. But say a prayer also for departing officers, whose terms of service have been wonderfully faithful. They will be greatly missed.

WHAT THE BIBLE SAYS— AND DOESN'T SAY— ABOUT HOMOSEXUALITY

SUNDAYS, JUNE 13, 20

The desire of many Christians to follow biblical teaching makes it difficult for them to accept and affirm LGBT people as equal children of God and members of the beloved community. But what exactly does the Bible say on the issue of homosexuality? We will examine the relevant biblical passages to try to understand them in their original context.

TREASURER'S BOX

Income for April was a mixture of "overs" and "unders." We fell ~6.5% short of our budget prediction for current year pledges. We also fell short of our budget goal for prior year pledges, but we've already received 100% of our budget goal for the year in this category. Income for contributions with no pledge and Sunday plate offering exceeded our budget goals. The year-to-date data is also a mixture of "overs" and "unders." Overall, the combined year-to-date income for these categories was slightly more than 2½% under our budget goals.

Looking at expenses for April, Building and Office under spent their budgets by ~23%; Personnel was 3% over budget. At first glance, Outreach expenditures seemed to be excessive at ~120% over budget, but this was simply a timing issue. Payments were not made until April to General Assembly, Synod and Presbytery; these lump sum payments put us current with our obligations, but also skewed the numbers. Year-to-date, all four areas spent less than budgeted. For the operating budget as a whole, year-to-date income of $488,064 exceeded year-to-date expenditures of $444,768.

An update on the Paybooks situation - Attorney General Andrew Cuomo obtained a $2.2 million court order and judgment against Paybooks in early May. The company must pay $2 million in restitution to customers, civil penalties of $5,000 for each instance of a deceptive act ($200,000 in all), and $2,000 in costs. Paybooks customers have until August 31 to file a complaint with the Attorney General's office; our complaint was filed last year. More to come.

Concerning the endowment, we had an investment return of 3% for the first quarter. Following the quarterly imputed income withdrawal of $91,744, the market value of the endowment fund as of March 31 was $4,278,970.

CHILDREN'S MINISTRY NEWS

Sunday, June 6 at 11:30am, the children will have their final church school Chapel service of the year. The theme is "Names of Jesus" based on the scriptures Luke 9:18-20 and Philippians 2:5-11. Parents are welcome to attend.

On Sundays June 13 and 20, we will hold broadly graded Sunday school classes—partially because of the loss of the space on the third floor of the education building necessitated by construction issues. We will have the following large group classes: preschool, K-2, and 3-6/7.

Over the summer, we will hold one largely graded (up to 6th grade) summer Sunday school with our neighbors at Incarnate Word Lutheran Church. We are looking for one adult (or teen) to assist each week. Please contact Becky D'Angelo-Veitch if you are available.

2010 CAMP CORY JUNIOR CHOIR RETREAT—AUGUST 23-26

Children's choirs from six area churches will again join together for four days on beautiful Keuka Lake. Camp provides the opportunity to be together, get to know each other, sing, learn some music skills and HAVE FUN! Children currently in grades 3-6 are eligible to attend. Contact Chris Lenti for more information: clenti@thirdpresbyterian.org or 271-6537, ext. 101.

TEACHER FEATURE

Three wonderful teacher's share their enthusiasm and faith with the 6th graders.

This is Keira Mahar's first year teaching Sunday school. She also volunteers with Dining Room Ministry, helped with the children's musical and was recently ordained a Deacon. She loves getting to know her students, and is constantly amazed at their willingness to share their ideas and questions!

Paul Zeh has been teaching for two years.

He frequently works out of town, but still finds time to be with his family, read and manage his son's soccer team. He loves sharing God's word and talking with the children about the ways that God is present in our lives.

Brian Ball has also been teaching for two years. He is thankful for his family and his faith. He is a volunteer Fire Chief at the Union Hill Fire Department in Webster, NY. Brian loves to teach because it helps him explore his own faith and learn more about the Bible.

LIVING OUT OUR BAPTISMAL PROMISES. . .

With the arrival of spring and the memory of our Lenten water theme, we're hoping the natural and spiritual considerations of water can nurture some seeds of inspiration and move you to consider a calling as a volunteer within our educational community. We know those seeds of inspiration often compete with seeds of doubt, which act like weeds, choking out the beauty and promise we might otherwise uncover with just a little extra 'gardening' effort. Current and former Sunday school teachers all tell a familiar story of personal evolution—each in his or her own way, realizing over time that their various initial doubts about teaching are easily drowned out by the richness of the experience on so many levels.

We have a number of teacher openings in a variety of grade levels. A commitment to teaching can involve working as a solo teacher with helpers or as a part of a team—for a season or all year. Many (all?) of our schedules are busy, but rest assured that there is flexibility to accommodate busy schedules.

This invitation is open to all. Please reach out soon to Becky D'Angelo-Veitch or Griff Vinton to ask a question or express your interest. We ask only two things: that you enjoy spending time with children,

TREC (THIRD ROCHESTER ENTERPRISES CORPORATION) & CULVER ROAD ARMORY

The Armory at Culver and #490 is now owned by the developer Fred Rainaldi. On Wednesday, April 28, over twenty members of Third Rochester Enterprises Corporation, led by church member Bill Jones and including Don Boyd, Chris Stevens, and Rod Frohman, attended a private presentation given by Mr. Rainaldi on his plans. TREC has been pushing for the development of this long-abandoned property. In summary his plans include:

- Renovating it into high quality office space
- Adding a second floor in the assembly hall space
- Developing 80,000 SF of office space and 20,000 SF of retail
- Developing retail that will be attractive to local residents

Assuming final approvals for financing and tenant leases are obtained in the next few months, there is a potential for construction to begin this summer with the first spaces being ready in early spring of 2011.

Sixteen volunteers from the Chili and Honeoye Falls churches combined with a mission team of seven from Third Church for a week of rebuilding in New Orleans April 25—May 1. Three homes were the recipients of the volunteers' hard labor. "All in all, we have had so much fun, so many laughs, so many weary bones and so much fellowship and growth in our understanding of this tragedy, that we wouldn't trade this experience for anything," said Carolyn Towers of Honeoye Falls. "Although our bodies may be moving a little more slowly, our spirits are in full force," added Len Picone of Third Church. Other Third Church participants were: Rod Taylor (Third Church's leader) George Cheatle, Nancy Watson, Don and Karen Pryor and Sharon Kiellach.

DINNER IN MEMBERS' HOMES ON SEPTEMBER 25, 2010 A FUNDRAISER TO SUPPORT OUR CHILDREN'S MINISTRY PROGRAM

Did you know that there are 126 children from age three to grade six registered for Sunday School? Our teaching teams included 21 adults and a handful of teen helpers who taught stories from 13 of the 66 books of the Bible this year. It takes around 700 volunteer hours to staff the Sunday school program, in addition to each teacher's preparation time. In 2009, we spent nearly $2200 on curriculum resources. And we use nearly 100 glue sticks each year in the Sunday School and Qabats programs! Please join us on Saturday, September 25th for dinner in a member's home followed by an all church gathering for dessert and entertainment.

Cost: What would you pay for an evening out, for a home cooked dinner with church friends and an evening of entertainment? You can do all of this and contribute to our Children's Ministry program! There is no set price for this fundraiser because we want all to feel welcome. Instead, we are asking that you be generous in making a contribution to support our Children's Ministry program. Please tear off and drop in box at coffee hour or e-mail information to JCSRL@aol.com

2010 COMMISSIONING CLASS

Rachel Hospers, Murie Gillett, Molly Carlson, Jeremy Stratton-Smith, Henry Rachfal, Zach Zeh, Casey Kopp, David Fernandez

The 2009-2010 Commissioning Class was a wonderful group of youth who gathered on Sunday mornings over the course of the year to share their faith, learn about the tradition and consider the life of their church and their calling. Their commissioning process culminated with a faith statement retreat plus dinner and meeting with the Session. The class helped lead worship on May 16.

Thanks to the families of class members and Faith Partners for supporting them through this process. And a special word of thanks to the teaching team, Marcia Cupery, Marcia Frohman and Jane Carden, for their inspiring commitment to the youth of Third Church. And blessings to this gifted, energetic, committed new group of church members.
